

MCKINLEY'S SCHEDULE.

Jones' Support of One Paragraph Causes a Senate Sensation.

A BLOW TO CIVIL SERVICE.

Appropriation For Its Support Stricken Out by the House—Boatner Subcommittee Report In Regard to the Decision of Judge Jenkins Indorsed by the Judiciary Committee—Other News.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The senate disposed of seven paragraphs of the metal schedule yesterday after eight hours of debate. The debate was marked by quite a number of interesting clashes between the Republicans and Democrats. The sensational feature of the day was caused by the unexpected presentation by Mr. Jones of an amendment substituting the McKinley bill classification and specific rates on round iron in coils, blooms and charcoal iron, somewhat higher than those already proposed. This amendment was a surprise to some senators on both sides, although evidently anticipated by Mr. Quay and a few other of his colleagues. Mr. Hale tried to use it as a text for taunting the Democratic side and Mr. Teller read him a very plain lecture on the duty of the Republicans to accept such increase as the Democrats were willing to grant without continually chiding their adversaries with inconsistencies. Then the vote was taken. Six Democrats and two Populists refused to support the Jones substitute, namely: Allen, Berry, Blackburn, Jarvis, Kyle, Mills, Pasco and Peffer. The rates fixed were as follows:

Iron ore, 40 cents per ton. Pig iron, scrap iron, etc., $1 per ton. Round iron in coils, 8-10 cents per pound. Slabs, blooms, less finish than bar, 6-8 cents per pound. Charcoal blooms, $12 per ton. Beams, girders and other structural iron or steel, 6-10 of 1 cent per pound. Boiler plate, from 5-10 to 2 per cent ad valorem. Forgings of iron or steel, 1-1-2 cents. Hoop or band iron or steel (cot-ton ties), 30 per cent ad valorem.

JOKE ON HOLMAN.

Capitol Guide Lays at His Door Economy of Washington's Administration.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Representative Cooper is telling a good story at the expense of Judge Holman. In Vice President Stevenson's room in the senate there hangs an imported French mirror, which, tradition says, has never been paid for. It was brought over, so the story goes, in Washington's administration to satisfy the whim of John Adams, who was then vice president. The cost was small, less than $50, but congress was more economical in those days than at present and refused to pay for the mirror, declaring that the purchase of such a luxury was unauthorized. One of the enterprising capitol guides was piloting a party of visitors around a few days ago and passed before the mirror. After relating the story of the purchase, he added: "The bill came up in congress in Washington's administration to pay for the mirror, but Mr. Holman objected to it and the amount has never been paid."

Congressman Cooper, who heard the remark, said the visitors were apparently so much engrossed in the guide's narrative that they failed to note the fact that Judge Holman was not born until a quarter of a century after Washington's administration.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Given a Setback In the House by a Vote of 109 to 71.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The question of civil service reform was given full sway in the house yesterday, the occasion being the amendment to strike out the paragraph in the legislative appropriation providing for the civil service commission. It gave opportunity for some stirring and not a few amusing speeches. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 109 to 71, amid great Democratic applause and Republican cries of "spoils." No other amendments of any importance were made.

Mr. Pendleton (Dem., W. Va.) claimed that the civil service commission was established for the purpose of keeping Republicans in office, while the Republicans defended the present administration of the laws. Several Democrats opposed the amendment virtually abolishing the commission, but it was adopted by nearly a strict party vote. Among the Democrats who voted with the Republicans were: Wilson, Tracey, Hendrix, Dockery, Warner, Springer, Sayers, Crain, Martin, Kilgore, Livingston, De Forest and Everett.

BOATNER REPORT INDORSED.

Bills to Prevent Such Decisions as That of Judge Jenkins.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The house committee on judiciary indorsed the report of the Boatner subcommittee which investigated the matter of the injunction by Judge Jenkins against the employees of the Northern Pacific. A resolution and two bills will be reported. The resolution will set forth that the house disapproves of the action of Judge Jenkins and holds that he exceeded his powers in enjoining the men from striking. The bills to be reported will be drawn to carry into effect the subcommittee's recommendations regarding compulsory labor, which were as follows: Your committee recommends that all possible doubt as to the powers of judges of the courts of the United States to enforce specific performance of labor contracts by legal processes or to compel any person to render involuntary service under any pretext be set at rest by a prohibitory statute.

The power to punish for contempt is limited by the laws of most states, and we can see no reason why a like limitation should not be placed upon the powers of federal judges.

WALSH EXPLAINS.

Georgia Senator's Motive Misconstrued In Regard to His Railroad Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Before the tariff bill was taken up yesterday Mr. Walsh, the new senator from Georgia, arose to a personal explanation in connection with a newspaper paragraph from St. Paul, stating that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had adopted resolutions condemning him for introducing a bill making the retarding of the United States mails punishable by imprisonment for 20 years. Mr. Walsh explained that the bill aimed at heavier penalties for train robbers; they had construed it as an attempt to punish trainmen who should "tie up" a train in a strike. Mr. Walsh said that he had served his apprenticeship at the printer's trade and had never known a day or an hour when he did not sympathize with labor, but he also recognized the fact that capital had rights as well as labor.

Labor organizations had a perfect right to direct their members to discontinue work, if by doing so they believed they could accomplish their purposes, but they had no right to interfere with other laborers who sought to go to work. They had the right to work or not to work; their rights extended no further. This was a land of liberty, but it was also a land of law and order. As long as labor sought a redress of its grievances, and under the cover of law sought to work out its problem in a lawful way, he was with labor to that extent and no further. The bill he had introduced was loosely worded and possibly liable to the construction the engineers had placed upon it, but it was not intended directly or indirectly to be subject to such construction.

Mr. Walsh then modified his bill so as to leave no doubt of its purpose.

BUTTZ WASN'T THERE.

Went In Search of Witnesses and Failed to Return.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Buttz, the alleged briber, did not appear before the investigating committee yesterday, but on the contrary sent his attorney to say that he desired to be excused for the purpose of searching for a witness to corroborate his statements. The committee did not like this idea and sent the sergeant-at-arms in search of him. He was not found, however, it being said at his boardinghouse that he had gone to a suburb. The committee had Senators Voorhees, Harris and Coke before it, and they related that Mr. Hunton had told them of the attempt to bribe. They knew of no other cases.

Buttz did not appear in the afternoon, as expected, but it is not thought that he is trying to avoid the inquiry. The committee believes he was detained on his trip and will be on hand as soon as possible.

CONTROL OF SCHOOLS.

Presbyterian Assembly Decides to Direct Affairs In the Seminaries.

PLAN'S DECISIVE MAJORITY.

Scenes of Marked Confusion and Exciting Episodes—Indianapolis Delegate Opposed to the Report Adopted—Miss Means' Appeal Recognized in the Southern Assembly—Other Meetings.

SARATOGA, May 23.—The question of theological seminary control, so far as the general assembly of the Presbyterian church is concerned, is settled. By a vote of almost four to one the report of the majority of the committee that considered the matter was adopted yesterday. The report provides for gaining the power and right to approve appointments of directors and professors, and asks the directors of the seminaries to declare a trust in favor of the Presbyterian church, which the general assembly may enforce in the civil courts. At the same time a committee is provided which shall confer and advise with the seminaries and seek to gain their consent to the proposed plan. The report was put through the assembly in spite of urgent requests for delay and in the face of protests from those who desired that the church and the institutions affected might be consulted. The ex-moderator, Dr. Craig, and the chairman of the committee, Mr. Young, were on the platform, and Mr. McDougal, the legal adviser of the committee, was directly in front of the moderator watching the progress of the debate very keenly and interjecting questions, to the confusion of speakers on the other side. At one point the moderator protested that he was a difficult post "with 20 of you fellows calling at me at once."

Accusation Against the Moderator.

The scenes of confusion were marked. An episode, during which the moderator was accused of foreshadowing the action which he desired the assembly to take, was concluded by an explanation that failed to explain. A speaker said in closing that he gave notice of a protest against the action of the assembly. Several from the floor called: "Out of order. No action has been taken."

The moderator remarked: "He'll be in order presently," and explained afterward that he meant the speaker would have taken his seat and so be in order.

The fact was elicited that the boards of directors of the seminaries at Princeton and Allegheny had expressed the desire that no relations be made. This fell on unwilling ears and had small effect upon the vote. McCormick seminary at Chicago and Danville seminary are already upon the proposed basis and will have to make no change in their charters.

Opposed by an Indianapolis Delegate.

The separation of Union seminary from the assembly was deplored by the same speaker who accused her directors of stealing the seminary. Thus ends the present chapter of the contest over seminary control. The committee to be appointed by the moderator will be a unit in favor of the proposed changes. Probably a number of the old committee will be re-nominated.

The debate was participated in by the following, who opposed the majority report: Dr. Hillis of Evanston, Ill.; Elder Franklin Shepard of Philadelphia; Judge Walker of Indianapolis and Elder Osborne of Auburn, N. Y., while those prominent in support of the majority report were Dr. Breed of Chicago; Dr. Ramsdell of Washington and Dr. Young of Danville. Notices of protest were given by Dr. Hillis and Elder Osborne. The vote against the minority report was 438 to 111 while that in favor of the majority report was 437 to 115. The evening was devoted to a popular meeting in the interest of home missions.

Secular School Appropriations.

SARATOGA, May 23.—The American Baptist Education society is in sixth annual convention. S. S. Hall in a paper on the "Right of the State to Educate" spoke against appropriations for any sectarian schools and urged the constitutional convention to adopt measures to prevent the use of public money for religious schools of any character. Dr. E. Thompson of Toronto and Rev. Hoy of Minneapolis read papers.

Miss Means' Appeal Recognized.

NASHVILLE, May 23.—The southern presbytery spent a good deal of time in discussing a motion to dismiss the Miss Means appeal, but finally rejected it and will ultimately decide whether the Charleston synod was justified in expelling her because she worked in a telephone exchange on Sunday.

Shall Women Preach?

EUGENE, Or., May 23.—The Cumberland Presbyterian assembly is having an exciting time over reports for and against the ordaining of women as preachers. The subject is still undecided.

Prematurely Despondent.

GREEN BAY, Ala., May 23.—Silas Gillfillan, a well-to-do merchant, hearing a report of the death of his fiancée, Miss Lewis, of typhoid fever, of which she had been ill, walked to her home and on the front steps blew out his brains. The girl was not dead, but the shock of the suicide will probably kill her.

Ordered to Recanvass.

LANSING, Mich., May 23.—The supreme court has filed an opinion in the case of Governor Rich against the board of state canvassers. A mandamus is issued directing the board to recanvass the vote of 1891 on the salary amendment. This will show a majority against the amendment increasing salaries.

SAVAGELY BEATEN.

Cleaners Up Set Upon by a Mob of Illinois Strikers.

LA SALLE, Ills., May 23.—A serious riot occurred here last evening. Ever since the mines closed the Union Coal company has kept some men at work to "clean up entries." Nothing was said against it by the strikers, but last evening as the men came from work they were set upon and brutally beaten by a mob of 1,000 strikers. Some sought shelter in the company's office and barricaded the doors and windows with office furniture. This only added to the fury of the mob, and the doors were battered in and the victims set upon. Benjamin Hetherington was pounded into insensibility. Edward Cummings was savagely beaten and several men roughly handled.

Strikers Go to Work.

CENTRALIA, Ills., May 23.—Trouble is expected at the Big Four mine. About 30 miners, principally negroes, responded to the call of the employees to resume work yesterday. It is understood that a delegation of strikers from Duquoin, Belleville and other adjacent mines will be here to force the men out. The great majority of the miners here favor remaining out until a general compromise is effected.

Miners Driven From Work.

AKRON, O., May 23.—Trouble is apprehended among the miners of Tuscarawas county, where several mines are being worked. Yesterday the men were driven out of one mine by strikers and the same fate is threatened to the other workers. The sheriff has asked for military aid. The strikers are belligerent and determined that work shall not be continued.

Trouble In Ohio.

ZANESVILLE, O., May 23.—Excitement was caused at Roseville yesterday afternoon by the firing of two shots at Rider Bros.' mine. A committee of 15 United Mine workers waited on the men there to induce them to stop work. During the conference two shots were fired by someone outside.

Ten Per Cent Increase.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., May 23.—Following the pace set by the Leavenworth Coal company, the Home company has announced an increase of 10 cents per ton for mine run coal, making the price 50 cents. The miners are jubilant and there is no probability of a strike now.

WHITECAP RIOT.

One Man Killed and Another Seriously Wounded In Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, May 23.—News has reached here of a bloody riot at Forrest City yesterday afternoon. The trouble was brought about over the arrest of prominent citizens of St. Francis county charged with whitecapism. A detective named Weber from Memphis was engaged to run the whitecaps down. As a consequence 30 or 40 arrests followed. Weber was attacked in Forrest City by the friends of the parties arrested. Shooting followed and Weber was instantly killed and Deputy Sheriff Smith seriously wounded. Frank Gorman, a merchant of Palestine, is charged with doing the shooting and has been arrested.

PLUCKY WOMEN.

They Demand Breckinridge's Expulsion From a Confederate Association.

LEXINGTON, May 23.—Yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Confederate Veterans' association adjourned in confusion. Mrs. M. A. Harrison and other women of the auxiliary declared that they would not place a flower on the graves of confederates unless the association expelled Colonel Breckinridge. No action was taken.

Will Acquit or Disagree.

CROWN POINT, Ind., May 23.—The court is still grinding on the first Roby prizefight case against Dominick O'Malley and comparatively few witnesses have been examined for the state thus far. All of their testimony was of the same import, being damaging to the defendant, but it is the general verdict here that the jury will either clear O'Malley or disagree, either of which will virtually end the cases. The first case will likely last two days more.

THE EVIDENCE ALL IN.

Argument In the Indianapolis Bank Case Now Going On.

MR. CARR'S OPENING SPEECH.

Defense Not So Stubborn as Had Been Expected—Fortune Left by a Father Who Deserted His Family Thirty Years Ago—Predictions on the O'Malley Case. Indiana News In General.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 23.—Evidence in the great bank case came to an unexpected end yesterday afternoon, and comment is general that the defense has made a less stubborn fight than had been expected and predicted, and upon the conclusion of the testimony of Albert S. Reed the defense rested. The government was so well pleased with the status of the case that its counsel offered no evidence in rebuttal further than a deed to the cabinet company's property for a consideration of $35,000 in contradiction of the estimated value by the defense.

Assistant District Attorney Carr opened the argument for the prosecution after the judge had granted three speeches on each side and stated that he wanted the case to go to the jury by Saturday evening. Mr. Carr made a strong argument against the accused Coffins, scathingly referring to some of the developments in the evidence and alluding with ridicule to the many transactions forgotten. Mr. Harvey, representing Reed, followed Carr and made the plea that his client had no knowledge of the state of affairs and acted only as an employee under instructions.

BANK CASE RUMOR.

Is Hanghey to Be Released Under Suspended Judgment?

Valuable Estate For a Family Deserted Thirty Years Ago.

SCOTTSBURG, Ind., May 23.—Thirty years ago John Hazzard, a merchant of this place, collected a large sum of money and started for Louisville, ostensibly to buy a new stock of goods, but he never returned. His wife and two children believed him dead. The daughter has since died. Two days ago the son, George Hazzard, who is a poor man living near Scottsburg, received a letter from Kansas stating that his father had died there leaving an estate valued at $60,000, which he had willed to his wife and two children. Hazzard will go to Kansas immediately to claim his fortune.

On a Humane Mission.

MUNCIE, Ind., May 23.—A man giving the name of John Crow, and who claims to be a former resident of Van Wert, was interviewed while passing through here. He stated that he was going to release a man who is serving a life sentence in the Michigan state prison on the charge of murdering him 11 years ago. Crow says he left the man who is now a prisoner in Michigan, and that he (Crow) has since been in the west seeking a fortune, and only recently learned that he was murdered as dead.

Second Suicide In One Family.

ANDERSON, Ind., May 23.—Walter Davis, a painter 24 years old, is dead of poison taken with suicidal intent at his home in this city. He is the son of Al C. Davis, ex-county recorder, who is now one of the assistant doorkeepers in the lower house of congress. Four years ago a sister of the young man dressed herself in white, after which she retired to her bedroom and shot herself through the heart.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 23.—Four attempts at incendiarism have been made within as many weeks upon the North Street House, one of the leading hostleries of this city. FRENCH MINISTRY RESIGNS.

Irrevocable Withdrawal of Premier Casimir-Perier.

PARIS, May 23.—The government was defeated yesterday in the chamber of deputies on the question as to whether the minister of public works had the authority to allow the employees of the state railroads to attend the congress of railroad men. Premier M. Casimir-Perier demanded the adoption of the order of the day pure and simple. The premier's motion was rejected by a vote of 275 to 225. M. Casimir-Perier thereupon left the Palais Bourbon, and the ministers subsequently proceeded to the Elysee palace and handed in their resignations to President Carnot.

On leaving the chamber of deputies the ministers passed before the benches of the extreme left and were greeted with loud cries of: "Vive la Republique, Vive la Commune."

The ministers on reaching the palace acquainted President Carnot with the result of the meeting of the chamber and indicated their intention to resign. They then left the president and proceeded to the foreign office, where the situation was discussed. Premier Casimir-Perier presided. It was decided to meet today at Elysee palace and formally tender their resignations to the president. It was considered that the fact that a second vote was taken by the chamber in the absence of the ministers precludes the possibility of a compromise. M. Casimir-Perier's withdrawal from the government will be irrevocable and it is thought that none of his colleagues will consent to enter any new combination.

DEMOCRACY is getting the country ready for another issue of bonds. The democrat debt increases.

As the democratic papers of Putnam positively decline to publish republican convention resolutions, as one of them states because its readers don't want to peruse them, they might turn their attention to a case recently decided in the circuit court. We refer to the case of James M. Hester vs. W. A. Bowen, county treasurer, injunction. The finding of the court was that the defendant be enjoined from collecting the taxes in question. There is about $6000 tangled up in a road matter in south Putnam county that is bothering the democratic officials a great deal, as they appear not to know where they are "at" in the matter, and are continually piling up costs against innocent people in an endeavor to extricate themselves. Inasmuch as the organ and organette do not take kindly to resolutions, they might set their officials right before the county on that Mt. Meridian and Putnamville road tax matter. Just who is to pay that $6000 is a knotty question.

Men Who Are Fighting Cooper.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 22.—A second meeting of the anti-Cooper forces in this district has just been held, and another one is arranged for Indianapolis the first week in June. At the last meeting were present committeemen of each county. The men now in the race against Congressman Cooper are Judge A. M. Cuning, ex Congressman Matson, of Greencastle, and Judge J. C. Robertson. The three men most bitter against Cooper here are Hon. Wilson S. Swengle, Hon. J. C. Kalmeyer and City Treasurer John Mahoney. It is now claimed that the opposite forces to Mr. Cooper have 105 delegates, with a drawing force of twelve, enough to nominate their man. The Cooper Guards, a club of young democrats here, have thrown aside their name. The anti-Cooper forces have already engaged quarters in this city for the coming convention.

The papers read at the meeting by the members were all well prepared and called out lengthy discussions. They were "Friendship Among Men of Letters," by Mrs. Anna Southard, and "A Review of Schiller's Marie Stuart," by Mrs. Swahlen. Mrs. Washburn furnished an excellent review of current events. TWO GREENCASTLE WEDDINGS.

The Woods-Harris and Dorsett-Priest Nuptial Events of Today.

At eleven o'clock today at the residence of Judge D. C. Donnohue on west Poplar street occurred the wedding of Mr. Frank W. Woods, of Martinsville, and Mrs. Madge Donnohue Harris, of this city. In the presence of relatives and immediate friends, a beautiful and impressive ceremony was pronounced by Dr. S. B. Town, of College Avenue church, assisted by Dr. H. A. Gobin, of DePauw university. Prof. Walter Howe Jones, of the DePauw school of music, presided at the piano. Mr. Woods is one of Martinsville's most prominent young business men, where he is engaged in the lumber and planing-mill business, and is a director in the new Citizens' bank. He is also prominent in Epworth League church work. The bride is one of Greencastle's best known and most estimable ladies, who goes to our neighboring little city with the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Those present from out of the city were Dr. and Mrs. Albert Hurlstone, Mrs. Arthur Barrett, Miss May Woods, and Mrs. Hubbard, all of Martinsville; Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Woods, father and mother of the groom, and Miss M. A. Campbell, of Knightstown; Mr. Louis Woods, of Tipton; Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, of Lafayette; Mrs. L. O. Robinson, Mrs. G. J. Tennant and Mrs. Nichols, of Terre Haute.

Masters Robert Miller and Morris Tennant acted as pages, and Miss Olive Miller as maid of honor. The full ritual ring ceremony was used, and the subdued tones of the piano were effectively played throughout the entire services. Immediately following the ceremony an elegant wedding breakfast was served at noon, the guests being seated about tables in the different rooms. Everything went as merry as the conventional "merry bell," and at 1:52 the bride and groom bid their friends good-bye, departing amid a shower of rice and congratulations, via Indianapolis, for their future home in Martinsville, where they will be tendered a reception by the Epworth League Friday evening.

DORSETT-PRIEST.

At high noon today Mr. Alvin D. Dorsett, of Baraboo, Wisconsin, and Miss Addie L. Priest were united in marriage. The ceremony was pronounced at the residence of Hon. Wm. H. Ragan, 511 east Seminary street, President J. P. D. John, of DePauw university, officiating. About forty relatives and friends were present to wish the happy couple the best of the future. Both the contracting parties are graduates of DePauw. Mr. Dorsett of the class of 1892 and his bride of the class of 1891. The latter is a daughter of Mr. Jo Priest, now of Kansas, and a sister of Prof. Arthur Priest and Mr. Chas. Priest, and Mrs. D. C. Allen, of this city. She is well and favorably known at home, and will carry to her home in Wisconsin the congratulations of numerous friends and acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsett departed at 12:53 for St. Louis, where they take a steamer up the Mississippi for their future home in Baraboo, Wisconsin. THAT STOUT MAN.

In the city of Brussels a great deal of very pretty lace is exposed for sale. English women admire this lace and buy it. If they go straight from Belgium to England, they can take it home without having to pay any duty, but if they pass through France they have to pay on all their new Brussels lace at the French custom house. And many English women pass through France on their way from Belgium to England, because they prefer the short passage from Calais to Dover to the longer one from Ostend.

The Misses Wylie were charming, middle aged ladies, fond of travel, fond of dress, fond of lace and very bad sailors. They had been excursioning in Germany, had come down the Rhine and had spent a week in Brussels. More attractive than the field of Waterloo and more fascinating than the Musee Wiertz was the Galerie St. Hubert. Miss Melissa Wylie could not resist the white Brussels lace; Miss Annora Wylie could not resist the black. Each of the ladies bought; led on by the tempter, the Misses Wylie bought lace fichus, lace collarettes, lace by the meter. Day by day they added to their stock.

At length it was necessary to make for England and to pass through that dreadful France with its protective duties. Then they realized their position. How about the lace?

"We cannot conscientiously say," remarked Miss Melissa, "that we have rien a declarer (nothing to declare) because this lace is dutiable."

"And we dare not risk packing it," returned Miss Annora, "because they might take it into their heads to examine our boxes."

"How can we get it through?" mused the elder sister.

"We must get it through!" declared the younger sister.

Presently Annora exclaimed: "I have it! We will wear it! No duty is paid on what one is wearing."

"Yes, yes," said Melissa, "but how can we wear it? The white will get soiled and the black torn in traveling. Besides, if it looks unnatural, as it would on our dresses and mantles, the officials will be sure to notice it."

"It would not look unnatural on our bonnets," said Annora.

They set to work to decorate their bonnets with the lace. They mingled white and black, fichu and flounce, in the most skillful manner, and though the bonnets looked somewhat overdone, yet they carried the lace, and it was probable that the male eyes of the custom house officials would not notice anything abnormal.

The Misses Wylie rejoiced in their cleverness. They sat in the train on their way to France with clear consciences and light hearts. They had rien a declarer—nothing dutiable. In the compartment with them was only one other passenger, a stout man of good humored aspect, evidently, from his extreme flabby stoutness and his extreme good humor, a middle class German. Now, Germans who understand English are very sociable with their English fellow travelers. As this German did not address the Misses Wylie, they felt sure that he did not understand English, and they talked freely to each other.

"I suppose," said Melissa, "that my bonnet looks all right? It does not strike the eyes as being too much trimmed, eh, Annora?"

"Well," said Annora, laughing, "it is too much trimmed for good taste, but then on this occasion you have had taste. What about mine?"

"Oh, quite artistic, 'a study in black and white,' as the artists say."

The ladies laughed together, full of glee at their coming triumph over the custom house officers. The German wore the fatuous grin affected by people who listen to a language which they do not understand.

At last the train slowed into Blandain station, the frontier. Out jumped the Misses Wylie with their hand baggage. They calmly awaited the approach of the officers. Out lumbered the German with his fatuous smile. He snatched up to one of the chief of the douane.

"Rien a declarer," said both ladies.

"Eau de cologne, dentelles, tabac, spiritueux" (cologne water, lace, tobacco, spirits), the officer ran off.

"Rien, rien," said the Misses Wylie.

The man said nothing more, and the ladies, expecting the cry of, "Et voiture, s'il vous plait!" felt extremely happy.

But at that moment the official to whom the German had been speaking came up to them and said, in very fair English, "The ladies are fond of lace?"

Their hearts sank within them.

"Rather," they conceded.

"And to carry it on the bonnet is a convenient manner of avoiding the duty."

"They were undone!"

"But we are wearing it!" screamed Annora. Melissa panted.

"Meditations, I admire your ingenuity, but such an amount of new lace cannot be passed even on your bonnets. Two, three, five meters," he went on, measuring the unlucky lace with his eye, "fichu, flounce, etc. So many francs or I confiscate it."

"En voiture, s'il vous plait!" was heard.

The sum demanded by the officer added to what they had paid in purchase would have made the lace the dearest that ever was bought. They tore off their bonnets, pulled out innumerable pins, set free the fichus, flounces, etc., put them into the officer's hands and ran to their seats. Out of breath and out of pocket, they were most unhappy. Successful cheating is one thing, but unsuccessful cheating is another and causes sharp pangs of conscience.

"Too bad!" cried Melissa as the train moved on. "We were entitled to what we wore."

"It was that German," said Annora. "He understood English. He heard what we said. He told the official. A man may grin and grin and be a villain!"

They groaned over their misfortune. The first time the train stopped the villain entered their compartment, still grinning. They glared at him, but he still grinned. They took refuge in silence. He began to speak:

"Ladies," he said in Londonese English, "I was very sorry to have to incur your displeasure, but I felt that it was my duty to report you at the douane. You had innocently told me all about the lace on your bonnets, and for the credit of our country, for the sake of English honesty, I was constrained to point out your bonnets to that official. Can you forgive me?"

"No," said Annora.

But Melissa thought that, notwithstanding his wicked cruelty, there was something very pleasant in his smile.

"I entreat your forgiveness, ladies; more, I humbly ask a favor."

"Sir?" exclaimed Annora.

"Miss Wylie, Miss Annora Wylie"—the presuming wretch had seen their names on their luggage, even their Christian names—"you will confer a great favor on me if you will tell me your address."

Annora reddened; Melissa blushed. Perhaps he was ashamed of the cruel part he had played and was about to offer an apology; perhaps their brave and gentle endurance of misfortune had touched him; perhaps their charms had so won upon him that he wished to see more of them, with a view to their suppositions broke off rapidly.

Annora looked at Melissa, and Melissa looked at Annora. Then the elder sister spoke. "We live at 113 Angelina gardens, Edwin square, South Kensington, S. W."

The stranger made a note of the address. Melissa was on the point of asking his name when he said abruptly, "You shall hear from me." Then he discoursed on the country through which they were passing, after which he buried himself in a Figaro and talked no more.

At the next stoppage he said a brusque "Good morning, ladies," and left the compartment, and they saw no more of him.

There was a considerable flutter in the breast of Melissa, who was of a romantic turn of mind, and who could only imagine one reason why this stranger should want her address. She still believed that he was a German who spoke English remarkably well, and she had seen that he was not a gentleman; she therefore made up her mind to refuse the offer of marriage which no doubt he would shortly make.

Arrived in Angelina gardens, the Misses Wylie were occupied in arranging the household, and a couple of busy days were spent by them. On the third day after their home coming they received by the same post a parcel and a letter. Annora opened the carefully tied and sealed parcel, while Melissa read the letter. Having read it once to herself, she next read it aloud to her sister:

MELISSA—I felt myself under a very great obligation to you the other day at Blandain. I am a very thin man, but I was swathed round with hundreds of yards of fine Brussels lace, and I thought that the best way of drawing the attention of the custom house officers from myself was to draw it to you. It was purely in your lace, I wish to make you due compensation, and I beg leave to send you some finer lace than that which you lost. I am obediently yours, YOUR STOUT FELLOW TRAVELER.

Melissa took possession of a black lace flounce and Annora of a dozen yards of white lace and a lace edged handkerchief, and they quite forgave the stout German for his cruelty and for his stoutness.—F. Bayard Harrison in Strand Magazine.
